IMPORTANT SAFETY NOTICE

Push Me Dubl Twin Stroller

As part of an ongoing program of continual product assessment, a potential safety concern has been identified relating to the back leg of the product shown above.

Products affected have the Batch References RK 3664

Unfortunately, the manufacture of some components did not reach the exacting standards set out in our quality and safety standards and there is a very small risk that they could potentially become defective after a period of extended use.

We have not received any confirmed reports of incidents relating to the potentially defective components and the defects can be recognised instantly by the customer.

Although only a small fraction of the batch may become defective, after carefully considering all the information available to us, we are taking the voluntary action of offering an approved repair to all customers from the affected batch at our cost.

Batch References can be found on the fabric label located on the reverse side of the seat unit.

To request a free of charge repair please contact us directly:
